

IF YOU ARE MINORITY COLLEGE STUDENT
(GRAD OR UNDERGRAD)
YOU ARE INVITED TO TAKE A CONFIDENTIAL SURVEY

IRB PROTOCOL NUMBER: 17-103

The Research Group on Disparities in Health within the Department of Health and Behavior Studies at Teachers College, Columbia University, in New York, New York is studying psychosocial factors associated with health and education outcomes in minority college students. The study includes your answering questions regarding your experiences of stress, trauma, health status, perceived racism and/or oppression, coping with stress, and your educational outcomes. Our goal is to use what we learn from this study to share information on the needs of minority college students to improve their educational and health outcomes.

- Participation in this online survey is limited to the first 200 students
- Participation in the study takes about 30-40 minutes
- After 200 people complete the survey, all those who took the survey more than once will be eliminated from study participation. Then, the Webmaster will run a program to randomly select 3 e-mail accounts without in any way linking your identity to the survey results. The 3 e-mail accounts will be the winners of either a $300, $200, or $100 bar-coded gift certificate for use on www.amazon.com
- Please use the link below to review the informed consent form, learn about your rights as a participant, and continue on to take the survey.
- We invite you to e-mail, text, and tweet other students you know:
